BRYAN will speak in Louisville about Sept. 15.

SILVER Democrats, don't forget to come out to your district meetings next Saturday.

THE very best farmers in this county are for Bryan and free silver, and by reason of their support of this man and his cause they are set down as aristocrats.

Now's that a glorious meeting at Hardinsburg on Sept. 5? Free silver Democrats, free silver Republicans and free silver Populists all a shoutin' for Bryan.

It is estimated that the tobacco crop in Kentucky will be cut off one-third on account of the worms. In some instances whole crops have been entirely eaten up.

BOUCLES COOKMAN's great speech in reply to Bryan delivered in New York yesterday will appear in the News next week. The News is determined to keep it's readers posted on both sides of this money question. The business of the News is to publish the news.

The only issue in this campaign is the money question. It is the free coinage of both silver and gold, and similarly as against the free coinage of gold alone. It doesn't matter whether you are a Democrat, Republican or Populist if you favor the free coinage of both silver and gold on equal terms it should cast your vote for Bryan.

All the bolters in this county Barnes stands at the head. He is the same Barnes that participated in the regular Democratic convention—he raved and he ranted, he recited and he voted and declared he was the best Democrat on earth—Alas and Alack! where is Brier Barnes' Democracy now? May the Lord help Barnes, we can't.

A LITTLE LONG Republican told the News at Hardinsburg last Monday that he intended to vote for Bryan and free silver in November. He said further that twenty-five or thirty of his neighbors would vote the same way. Owen Cunningham, Charlie Blanford and Rube Miller don't believe this but it's a fact all the men and all the ladies can't keep them from it.

You may ridicule the farmer as much as you please but you can't get along without him. What's the matter with this town now? Why is business of every kind dead? Who do the men of means of this town look to for trade? Who has built up the town and made it what it is? It is the farmer. When the farmer is prosperous we feel it in town, and that is the trouble now. The gold standard is ruining the farmer.

DR. R. L. Newsom dropped into our office this day and we had a long talk about the paper and the following words written on it. He remarked, "That is the name of your party: 'Dem-Pop—Popolo—Silver—Chicago—Commo—Anarcho—Social—Tello—Deuso—Coxey—Pseudocratic—comunitarian'."

Gov. Stone of Missouri, in a great stone made at Madison in introducing W. J. Bryan, said:

"Sir, the man who holds up to opposition such men as constituted the Chicago Convention, who denounces them as cranks, Anarchists or Socialists or who in any respect impinges their intelligence or patriotism, does himself most rank injustice if he be not a knave, a slander or a fool. That convention did indeed represent the 'masses' of the people—the great industrial and productive masses of the people. It represented the men who toil in mines who fatten hogs, who toil in shops, who fell forests and delve in mines. But are these to be regarded with contempt and addressed in terms of contempt? Why, sir, these are the men who feed and clothe the nation; whose produce makes up the wealth of the nation; whose sweat and toil are the basis of all wealth."

The man who holds up to the world such a gold standard crowd! Such a supply and demand people—incunus fruit you know. The camp will break up next week. Henry Herndon doesn't lose any of his vivacity nor cordiality. We took supper with Mrs. Dan Roberts and then to church at Buck Grove where Mrs. Mary Herndon and Mr. W. D. Burton were.

to the club, my dear, so don't wait up for me."

He returned to his husband just a little after ten.

"How does this suit me? Get my gloves, and where's my cane?"

Now it's good care of baby, for I'll soon be back again.

"Be careful that you lock the doors, and be a good boy, dear."

Some change? "Oh, yes, I had forgotten, but it's still there."

You seem to be extravagant—I gave you some last week."

"It is not for the house, I'm sure," he said in accents soft.

"Of course, that is the old excuse. I've heard it, sir; before."

To ask me every day for cash becomes a bore, I suppose."

We must economize, or else you'll always keep me broke."

There was no real argument, 'tis what I think, and so it went.

"My chit's the little happiness that I have left in life."

You can't be quite so mean as to begrudge that to yourself."

If it makes you feel good, I've my old boy, goodby."

Perhaps you are extra good, I'll bring you home a try."

"Is there anything I can do, ere I turn down the light?"

"There is," he moaned, "for I feel nervous, alone."

Do we be kind, my darling, if you're the time to spare,

And look under the bed to see if there's a woman there?"

SIOUX INDIANS.

Their Great Encampment at the Zoological Gardens.

The Most Valuable Educational Feature in Outdoor Entertainments Ever Presented

Whatever our people do, or wherever they go, they should not fail to visit Cincinnati, Ohio, during the summer for the purpose of making a tour of the Cincinnati Zoological Gardens, and seeing the large and interesting band of Sioux Indians now encamped in this world-famous resort. The Indians will remain but a short time longer, and it behoves those who wish to see the noble red man to lose no time in making a visit.

The engagement of these Indians in a series of remarkable enterprises on the part of the Zoological Society of Cincinnati. This society has ever been noted for its enterprise and its progressiveness.

It is strikingly well done, to date, its honorable Board of Directors being composed of representative business men of the Queen City.

The scheme of placing these Indians on exhibition originated last fall, after the experience of the Zoological Society with the Cree Indians, whom they became friendly and returned to their Reservation, after they had been captured by men of the tribe.

Mr. E. H. Bernays, of the Bernays Company, a representative of the Indian tribe, who is president of the Zoological Society of Cincinnati, has been sent to the Board of Agency, S. D., to make contracts with the Indians, who there for several weeks, and was very careful in his selection, as will be seen by any one who visits the Indian Village.

The Indian tribe, the idea of J. Fenimore Cooper who is the savage, not as some claim him to be, but as a creature of primitive nobility, who, being unlearned and untutored, is unaware of the vices of civilized mankind. However this may be, the Indians at the Zoo are certainly a fine-looking set of people, and their features are all well, broad-shouldered, with well-defined, expressive countenances, and with piercing eagle eyes. The squaws are also very handsome women, not as ugly as the average Indian woman, while the papooses are really pretty and attractive.

These Indians are accompanied by several of the most prominent chiefs of the Sioux nation, at the present day. Among them are Little Bald Eagle, Young Iron Shell, Spotted Owl, Goes-to-War and Black Bear. They have now been at the Zoo for several weeks and have become quite accustomed to the place. Their village is located in the north-eastern corner of the grounds, and is a picture in itself. It is a city of tepees, in which the chiefs, warriors, squaws and papooses live in the primitive happiness, just as they did in the days when our forefathers encountered them in their struggle to push westward the line of civilization. They still live in this manner on their Reservation, and are now engaged in the work of bringing them east, and devoting a number of acres of the Zoological Gardens to their village, making all the surroundings as picturesque as possible, is certainly unique, and should result in a large increase in the attendance at the Zoological Gardens. This village serves to show the Indian as he is, in repose, and to show the Indian as he was, in action, when they appear at the new amphitheatre south of the lake, show him in action. These entertainments, offered from week to week, from a series intended to illustrate the life of the Indian, his conduct in the chase, and in war, and to bring out his true character.

It requires no extended arguments to convince the reader that these Indians are an educational feature. The visitor, whether he be old or young, can learn more, and form a better idea of the early history of our country by seeing these Indians than by reading whole volumes of American history, before the close of the century. They are the result of special excursions from this part of the country, and every one of our people who can afford to do so should avail themselves of one of these numerous opportunities to visit them, and see these great attractions. The Indian is fast passing away, and a few more generations, and they, like us, will be known only in history, and this being the case, he is becoming more of a curiosity every day.

The Indian entertainments begin with a grand entry, introducing one hundred Sioux Indian chiefs and warriors on horseback, and also bands of wild Redskins. After these follow a wonderful Indian horse drill, which is intended to show the splendid horsemanship of the Indian. They come around the ring first by single file, double file, by threes, by fours, by sixes, by tens, and then in the centre in platoons of twenty, twenty-five, thirty and more. This follows with the characteristic dances of the Sioux Indian nation, the war dance, the scalp dance, the square dance, etc. The war song of the Sioux is sung, and exhibitions of expert rifle shooting and lance throwing are given, to the astonishment and delight of all who witness them. The Indians are in full costume with the representation of the most sensational of the Indian conflicts, such as the Battle of Wounded Knee, the Custer Massacre, etc. The burning of a white prisoner at the stake, running the gauntlet, the attack upon a settler's cabin, the waylaying of stage coach, and other sensational events of Indian life.

The incident features include the wonderful exhibitions of Six Hassen Ben All's royal Moorish acrobats. They appear each week in an entire change of program, introducing the most sensational long distance and lofty tumbling, vaulting, balancing, pyramidal effects. The people of the Ohio Valley are here to witness and have the opportunity to see these Indians, provided through the splendid liberality and enterprise of the Cincinnati Zoological Society.

I am eighty-seven years old and have used about all of the cough and lung remedies that have been sold during my life; and for the benefit of the suffering, I will say that I have never used any remedy equal to Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. It gives quick and permanent relief in grippe, as well as other colds. We keep it in our house all the time and would not be without it.

THE WOMAN QUESTION.

She Should Have Freedom of Her Legs.

(From Eleanor Kirk's Paper.)

No sane person can possibly dispute the truth that women have just as much right to lead free as men. For some reason or other, the public has been denominated them or has not been appropriated by them, and not until the era of the bicycle has there been any really earnest, concerted attempt to change this in respect. If the bicycle had been productive of no other good, it would be entitled to a front seat with the bicycle.

The woman who rides a wheel must from the very nature of things have a keen desire to individualize herself. If this were not the case she would refuse to mount this vehicle and speed forth, observed all observers, for in no position is a woman in such thorough evidence to the world as when she is mounted on the saddle—back-track it is mostly horse; on a bicycle it is all woman. So it is a logical sequence that every feminine rider is aware of her conspicuous condition, and if she did not like it she would continue to ride with her papa or her beau in the wheel-barrow, or in the rickety tray car.

The question of costume has, however, still a most perplexing one. Petticoats were found to be as awkward and more dangerous on the bicycle than in mounta's climbing, but how could a decent woman appear public without a skirt? Frequent and distressing accidents proved that the short or even the medium skirt could not be relied upon to cover the legs properly. In fact, the impossibility of keeping this garment where it belonged, the pullings and the haulings, together with the general wear and tear of the rider, only added to the difficulty of the costume.

Miss Carrie Shelman is spending the week at the Zoological Gardens, and the most popular person there is Miss Jane Wheeler, of Rome, to whom were born nine children, eight of whom are still living. He was a consistent member of the M. E. church and also a member of the Masonic Lodge. He died as he had lived, trusting in the Lord.

The lonely companion and child were over heartful sympathy, for she too has a son, a fat baby, for us on the other shore, and to them we say, give not, for his earthly trials and sufferings are o'er, but live such lives as will entitle you to a rich reward in the world to come, where you can meet husband and father and form an undivided family in Heaven.

Blissed is the dead which die in the Lord."

To be satisfied of this one has only to look at the very low-necked gowns at the Zoological dinner parties, and the same costume at the tea parties of the day. Among them are Little Bald Eagle, Young Iron Shell, Spotted Owl, Goes-to-War and Black Bear. They have now been at the Zoo for several weeks and have become quite accustomed to the place. Their village is located in the north-eastern corner of the grounds, and is a picture in itself. It requires no extended arguments to convince the reader that these Indians are an educational feature. The visitor, whether he be old or young, can learn more, and form a better idea of the early history of our country by seeing these Indians than by reading whole volumes of American history, before the close of the century. They are the result of special excursions from this part of the country, and every one of our people who can afford to do so should avail themselves of one of these numerous opportunities to visit them, and see these great attractions. The Indian is fast passing away, and a few more generations, and they, like us, will be known only in history, and this being the case, he is becoming more of a curiosity every day.

Children Day Postponed—Sunday School Going Down—Fruit Damaged—Other Notes.

Not quite so hot.

Had a nice shower of rain Wednesday, W. T. Burnett went to Hawesville Friday.

Mrs. Eliza Kahal is right sick, we have not learned what ails her.

While the farmers keep the ruckers off of his tobacco the worms do the cutting.

The Mt. Vernon class did good singing Wednesday night at the home of Mr. Scribe.

There were a goodly number from this neighborhood attended the picnic at Fellville Saturday.

Zach and his family, of Daviess county, after a week stay with relatives returned home Thursday.

The gold bugs are looking and, whoo-whoos and groans; while the silverites are cheerful, hopeful and merry.

There will not be any Children's day services at this place in September, from several causes it will be postponed.

Mrs. Ida Long and children, of Roseville, after a week stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, returned home Friday.

McKinley is backed by kerosene of money in this campaign. Bryan has the voters which will send him to the White House all the same.

It is an evident fact, that a man must be considerably advanced on the financial question, when the worms destroy his tobacco while he is discussing the money issue.

We had another good shower of rain Saturday evening, which by following so closely after the one that fell Wednesday will do a great help to corn and toda.

The wind did some damage to fruit trees.

We are sorry to see our Sunday school on the decline. Why is it that the good people of the neighborhood take so little interest in a cause that is calculated to build up our community, both morally and spiritually?

(From Eleanor Kirk's Paper.)

No sane person can possibly dispute the truth that women have just as much right to lead free as men. For some reason or other, the public has been denominated them or has not been appropriated by them, and not until the era of the bicycle has there been any really earnest, concerted attempt to change this in respect. If the bicycle had been productive of no other good, it would be entitled to a front seat with the bicycle.

to place our labor in the service of the labor of Europe! It is a fight between the owners of property and the wage-earners, and the outcome of this battle must win.

The hot iron of gold has entered into the pockets of the people, and therefore we are all the more anxious to get rid of it.
